

MID-LIFE, THE CRISIS MUSICAL IS HILARIOUS FOR MEN & WOMEN!

Some people think that getting older is nothing to laugh about...

the Dutch Apple Dinner Theatre proves them wrong with this wacky Saturday Night Live style musical about the things that happen from age 40-70 in the show Mid-Life, the Crisis Musical playing January 4- February 9.

If you need reading glasses, you're going bald, got acid reflux, double chins or you're having hot flashes ... you're gonna LOVE Midlife, the Crisis Musical!

Nothing is sacred in Mid-Life as the musical pokes fun at the maladies that we all go through. There are songs dedicated to the singing mammogram, trips to the doctor for prostate exams, biological clocks becoming a ticking bomb, menopause, the side effects of all those prescriptions, botox and men trying to prove they are still weekend sports heroes.

Returning to the Dutch Apple are favorites Andy Kopec who was seen as farmhand Ezekiel in Irving Berlin's White Christmas, Herr Schultz in Cabaret and Caesar Rodney in 1776 and Kip Taisley who was Cliff Bradshaw in Cabaret.

Dutch Apple Dinner Theatre has got the prescription to give you more laugh lines! As Jefferson Fietek from FM107 states, "I laughed so hard, I wet myself!" Now that is a testament to how funny the show is! Visit dutchapple.com/showdescription-Midlife.htm to hear some music clips from the show. To order tickets, call 717-898-1900 or order online at dutchapple.com. Winter performances are Wednesday-Sunday with selected matinees on Wednesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday.
